It is an honor to share the achievements and accomplishments, activities and creativities, opportunities and challenges of the Centre for past one year. Completing a span of five years like the Five-Year Plan with a team of 12 inter-disciplinary Fellows along with two members of the administrative staff, fondly called as a team of 14 Navratnas, has always been a moment of warm remembrance. Carrying forward the vision of the 21st Century New India with a mission of a New Academia, the Centre continued with its multifaceted activities and programs throughout the session.

Holding Monthly Lectures, Special Lectures, Interactive Discourses, Workshops, Seminars and Conferences on regular basis has made the Centre a competitive research hub in the discipline of social sciences for past five years. The successful completion of Samiksha: Delhi Assembly Election Survey in February-March 2020 with its apt electoral results has made us stand as a leading psephological centre in the country.

The increasing participation and integration of students and scholars, social scientists and social activists with our centre strengthens our untiring efforts towards an integrated, inclusive and innate knowledge as wisdom. Steering, sustaining and strengthening our academic journey to remain as a vibrant research centre in the competitive national and global world has been the cherishing desire of all of us.

May the Almighty strengthen, steer and sustain our perseverance to reach new academic horizons in the course of our academic journey!

About Us

Developing Countries Research Centre (dcrc) was set up by the University of Delhi on 20th April 1993 under the Board of Interdisciplinary Program through Ordinance XV-A. The academic space so created soon became a hub for teachers, students and researchers engaged in researching developing societies of Asia, Africa and Latin America. The year 2004 was a historic moment in the life of dcrc. Vide Ordinance XX (9) it acquired the status of a constituent of the Faculty of Social Sciences, though it was formally inaugurated by Professor G. Ram Reddy, Chairperson, UGC, on 5 August 1994. It was supported by the UGC during initial years.

The Centre is obligated by the Ordinance to organize regularly Comparative theory seminar, annual grassroots politics colloquium in order to facilitate dialogue between scholars and activists, annual workshops on different issues related to human rights, and Oliver Tambo and Pablo Neruda lectures every alternate year.

In pursuit of its objectives, the Centre has organized seminars and conferences both at national and international level. At times it has organised events in collaboration with prestigious institutions such as the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, AKUT Group of Uppsala University (Sweden), Max Mueller Bhavan, Centre for the Study of Developing Societies (CSDS), Aligarh Muslim University, International History Congress, V.V. Giri National Labour Institute, Central Social Welfare Board, Women's Studies and Development Centre, Planning Commission, Institute for Human Development, DESTIN of the London School of Economics and Political Science, DFID, Japan Foundation, Vidyajyoti and the constituent colleges of the University of Delhi.

The Centre aims to produce a body of knowledge that confronts and conceptualizes issues of the postcolonial world and encourages scholars to problematize them further. Scholars from across the board, such as Political Science, Economics, Sociology, History, Geography, Education, Philosophy, Psychology, Literature, Film and media studies have been involved in this effort. The main objective is to thematize knowledge so gained and critically engage students with such insights while teaching at the undergraduate and postgraduate level in the vast network of Delhi University. Above all, the objective is to build dcrc as a centre that can act as a springboard of critical and creative theory.

The Centre ensures criticality and creativity in its academic work by entailing two key things in the main. It structures its academic activity in a way that builds an interface between inputs gathered from academics and grass root activists, which turn out to be a critical laboratory of testifying knowledge for both, theory and practice. The other key aspect is that the Centre encourages scholars to adopt methods of academic engagement that rescue disorientations in knowledge production, which generally occur while studying developing societies from the dominant paradigms of the West. The larger endeavour is to have an alternative world-view of how to look at issues related to culture, nationalism, gender, sexuality, religious minorities and other narratives.

The Centre acquired a new currency with Prof. Sunil K Choudhary at the helm of affairs as Director since July 2015. A Gold Medalist from the University of Delhi and recipient of several awards and accolades, including the very prestigious the 'Global South Award 2014', Prof. Choudhary has set examples of high moral standard and probity in academic and public life for Fellows of the Centre. As he rightly calls himself 'Pratham Sevak', Prof. Choudhary has been able to inculcate in all a spirit of togetherness, so characteristic of a 'Parivar'.

The Centre has six committees headed by fellow conveners. Some of the committees are: Purchase, Seminars/Conferences, Library, Website, Gender Sensitization and Printing/Publication. The Advisory Committee headed by Hon'ble Vice Chancellor is the apex decision making body of the Centre, while the Fellow Council and Research Committee are meant for discussing various issues of academic interest. All the fellows are members of these committees. The fellows and conveners meet regularly in their respective committees and contribute to the corporate life of the Centre.

The Fellow Council meets on the first working Friday of every month. The Fellow Council discussion is preceded by an academic discourse covering issues of contemporary relevance. For all research related decisions, the Centre has the Research Committee which meets quarterly to discuss, deliberate and decide on the research issues.

Academic Activities and Programs at the Centre during 2019-20

The Centre organized various activities in the academic year 2019-20 which is an achievement in itself. The Annual Report apart from providing an overview of the Centre, gives a glimpse of Centre's major activities in the previous year to its readers.

(a) Conferences, Seminars and Workshops

- Giving a clarion call for surveying the Delhi Assembly election under 'Samiksha 2020', the Centre organized its first election workshop on 14 January. Shri Siya Sharan, the Finance Officer of University of Delhi was the Chief Guest on the occasion. Releasing the last issue of Centre's newsletter, Sanchayan, Shri Siya Sharan applauded the trajectory of the Centre's journey and stated that in view of its outstanding academic and professional achievements in a short span of five years, the Centre should be renamed from Developing Countries Research Centre to the 'Lead Countries Research Centre'.

The Second and the third Workshops of Samiksha 2020 were also held with the Fellow Coordinators, Team Leaders and Surveyors in January 2020. The Samiksha workshops steered Centre's continuous resolve to undertake our forthcoming mission for Delhi 2020 - a study of the assembly election to be held on 8 February 2020.

b) Monthly Lectures

- The Centre organized its 13th Monthly Lecture on 'Reforming the Muslim Society: A Triple Talaq Perspective' on 27 August 2019 in the auditorium of the Centre. Speaking on the occasion after releasing the Centre's monthly Hindi magazine, Sanshleshan on theme 'Triple Talaq', Shri Arif Mohammad Khan, formerly Union Minister, Government of India highlighted both diversity and pluralism as the strength of Indian society.

Shri Arif Mohd Khan stated that social evils anywhere are threat to equitable society everywhere. Arguing that any practice which is bad in religion can't be good in law. Describing religion in India as spiritual, he described religion as a set of obligations and duties. Appreciating the decision of the Government of India by making triple talaq (instant oral divorce by a Muslim husband to his wife by uttering talaq thrice), Shri Arif Mohd Khan said the triple talaq legislation by the Parliament would have larger impact in terms of spill over effect in reforming the society. Chairing the session, Shri Raj Kumar Bhatia Ji, formerly worked with University of Delhi stated that the need of the hour is not only bringing reforms in Muslim society but other societies too. Arguing that Muslim vote bank politics prevents reforms in Muslim society, he said that the reforms in Muslim society should be undertaken by progressive Muslims within the Muslim society itself. He pointed out that the triple talaq legislation by the Parliament would usher new chapter in Hindu Muslim relations.

(c) Interactive Discourses

- The Centre organised a Talk on ‘Cyber Security: The New Art of War?’ on 1 April 2019 by Prof Bertrand VENARD from Audencia Business School, France and currently a Visiting Fellow at the University of Oxford. Citing his association with Prof VENARD from University of Oxford and the joint ventures of the two on corruption, Prof Sunil K Choudhary, the Director of the Centre, highlighted both the historicity and salience of the topic where spying and surveillance had been the important part of Statecraft in ancient India. However, Prof Sunil stated that with the onset of technological revolution there has been a shift of the spying technology from state to institutions and finally to individuals. He stressed the need for ‘Sharing, Shaping and Securing information’ as the most critical aspect of cyber security in contemporary times. Moreover, as cyber-attacks and digital spying are more dangerous than terrorism as they advance faster than their countering efforts; a continuous monitoring needed where a shift is needed from ‘Constitutional Watch Dog to Institutional Watch Man’ to which he emphatically added, ‘Haan! Mein Bhi Hoon Chowkidar’ [Yes, I am also a Watchman].

Prof. VENARD highlighted the challenges of cyber security through a theoretical and mathematical approach. Stating that his was the first research project on cyber security in the world, Prof VENARD discussed the issues of surveillance state and its impact on state sovereignty and emphasized on finding a solution to the cyber security concerns. Acceleration of new technology with increasing size of the networks have posed more threats affecting social energy, data system, institutional identities, and various state services, including the power plants. Cautioning that the hackers may even target the nuclear power plants, any leakage of information may make all systems collapse. Hence, he advocated strong national laws and stringent international systems to address the issue of cyber security. Prof VENARD also released next issues of Sanchayan, Centre's Quarterly Newsletter and Hindi monthly magazine Sanshleshan.

- In the aftermath of the elections for 17th Lok Sabha 2019, the Centre organized an Interactive Discourse on "Constitution and Elections" on 3 May 2019. Two panelists from Jodhpur, Dr Hariram Parihar and Dr Dinesh Gehlot unfolded many naiveties on the relationship between constitutional provisions and the electoral process. Tracing the historical trajectory of India's largest electoral democracy from ancient age till the 21st century global India, Dr Hariram Parihar highlighted the interplay between election and selection as an essence of democratic politics of the country.

Underlining the role of Shri Sukumar Sen, the first Chief Electoral Commissioner and Shri T N Seshan for revolutionizing the election process in India, Dr Parihar listed many new reforms and innovations undertaken by the Election Commission of India from EVMs, NOTA, VVPAT, Totalizer and COMET that have gone in a long way to making electoral democracy facilitator, functional and fundamental striving towards an efficient government and effective governance.

Describing Indian Constitution as the most beautiful document in the world for not being guided by single ideology, class and religion, Dr Dinesh Gehlot underlined the salience of the working of many constitutional institutions like the Judiciary, Election Commission, Public Service Commissions, CAG and others at the backdrop of India's robust electoral democracy. Dr Gehlot focused on the intricacies and complexities in the electoral process in general and the autonomy and constitutional ambiguity in the role of the Election Commission of India in particular. Addressing the Chief Election Commissioner as 'golden zero', he argued that unlike judiciary, the CEC has failed to get both its real autonomy and actual power despite its working for past seven decades. While the 73rd and the 74th constitutional amendments were considered as revolutionary landmarks in India's electoral democracy, Dr Gehlot found inconsistency between the State Election Commission and the Panchayat Election Commission stating that the two election commissions should be blended constitutionally. Moreover, to control, contain and combat money and muscle power in election, he highlighted the electoral expenses of political parties under the ambit of CAG.

Shri Balbir Punj, Former Member of Parliament, Rajya Sabha was the keynote speaker whereas an eminent journalist and the President of Jammu & Kashmir Addhyayan Kendra, Shri Jawaharlal Kaul was the chair on the occasion.

Countering the notion of 'tolerance', Shri Balbir Punj stated that we don't tolerate others; rather Indian culture has the tradition of graciously accepting others. According to him Indian culture doesn't believe in uniformity but it is based on harmony. The reason for the success of Indian democracy is because of our culture, Shri Balbir Punj emphasized.

Speaking on the occasion, Shri Jawaharlal Kaul narrated his experience with Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee and stated that the waves of change flow only when a person with multiple talents reaches at the helm of the government. Shri Kaul said that the silence of Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee was equally vigorous as his speech. ## जम्मू के लोगों का प्रतिनिधित्व बढ़ जाएगा : प्रो.सुनील चौधरी

जम्मू के सवाल

केंद्र शासित राज्य होने से जम्मू के लोगों का प्रतिनिधित्व विधानसभा में प्रभावशाली होगा। जब चुनाव होगा तो जम्मू का महत्व घाटी की अपेक्षा अधिक होगा। जब सरकार का गठन होगा तो जम्मू की भूमिका प्रभावशाली होगी।

राजीव गांधी ने भी एक बार कहा था कि जम्मू-कश्मीर की समस्या का समाधान सांख्यिकी परिवर्तन है। यदि स्थिति घाटी में सामान्य होती है तो उसका प्रभाव जम्मू में भी पड़ेगा। क्योंकि जो निवेशक हैं, वह जम्मू में निवेश भी बढ़ेगा। जो कश्मीरी पंडित घाटी छोड़कर देश के अन्य इलाकों में चले गए। स्थिति

सुधरेगी तो वह जम्मू के माध्यम से घाटी में पहुंच जाएंगे। आने वाले समय में बहुत रचनात्मक परिवर्तन देखने को मिलेंगे। केंद्र शासित प्रदेश में

प्रो. सुनील चौधरी, डीयू

सारी प्रमुख शक्तियां उपराज्यपाल के पास होती हैं। इसमें चुनी हुई सरकारें विकास कार्य देखती हैं। यहां के सियासी दल नेशनल कांफ्रेंस, हुस्नियत कांफ्रेंस, पीडीपी या अन्य दल जो अलगाव की बात करते हैं, यह उनके लिए धक्का है। उनकी राजनीति शून्य होने जा रही है।

- This quarter also brought the opposition on a common platform on the issue of Citizenship Amendment Act. The amended act enlisted great debates and discussions both in the media and on the ground. Prof Sunil appeared on the All-India Radio with other panellists and explained the technicalities and naiveties in the show which received wide accolades too.

- As the current quarter comprised two prominent elections - Delhi and Israel, Fellow and Scholar of the Centre - Shri Sarad Kumar Yadav and Shri Aashish Kumar Shukla engaged into media discussions, particularly deliberating on the Samiksha survey results and the changing political behaviour of Delhi voters. The Centre's activities on Delhi elections were widely covered in many newspapers, including Dainik Hindustan.

When the Delhi election was captured by Samiksha and its Fellow Coordinators both in the print and electronic media, Centre's Director, Prof Sunil K Choudhary appeared in Rajya Sabha TV debated on the Israeli elections and changing electoral politics in Israel.
